

Quarantine Measures upon Arrival in Macau and Shenzhen

From Macau to Shenzhen

1. All people infected with Covid-19, or of suspected case, or with close contact with confirmed Covid19 patients or with symptoms of fever and respiratory disease or having been to foreign countries or regions are banned from entering Shenzhen.
2. All arrivals are required to hold a “Yuekang Code” with green code.
3. All arrivals hold a certificate of negative result or a document of specimen collection for nucleic acid test issued by qualified institution (including the display of valid certificate in the Yuekang code and Macau Health Code)
4. Collection of passenger arrival information such as the name, nationality, passportnumber and seating number is required.
5. People fulfilling the said requirements can gain full access to all areas in the country without the need of mandatory medical observation.

From Shenzhen to Macau

1. Foreigners are banned from entering Macau

2. Residents of Mainland China, Taiwan and Hong Kong

- Residents from the subject country or regions who have been to countries/ areas outside China in the past 14 days are banned from entering the Macao SAR
- Residents from the subject country or regions who have been to Hong Kong within the past 14 days are required to hold a certificate of negative result or a document of specimen collection for nucleic acid test issued within 24 hours by a qualified institution recognized by the health authorities for boarding and entering Macau; otherwise, they will be sent to medical observation in designated location.
- Arrivals from Taiwan are required to hold a certificate of negative result or a document of specimen collection for nucleic acid test issued within the past seven (7) days by a qualified institution recognized by the health authorities for boarding and entering Macau; and are subject to medical observation for 14 days at designated location upon arrival.
- All arrivals from the subject countries or regions who have not been to foreign countries, Hong Kong and Taiwan within the past 14 days are required to hold a certificate of negative result or a document of specimen collection for nucleic acid test issued within the past seven (7) days by a qualified institution recognized by the health authorities. No 14-day medical observation is required.

3. Macau Residents

- Residents who have not been to Mainland China in the past 14 days prior to arrival are required to hold a certificate of negative result or a document of specimen collection for nucleic acid test issued within the past seven (7) days by a qualified institution recognized by the health authorities for boarding and entering Macau.
- Residents who have been to Hong Kong in the past 14 days are required to hold a certificate of negative result or a document of specimen collection for nucleic acid test issued within the 24 hours by a qualified institution recognized by the health authorities for boarding and entering Macau; and are subject to 14-day medical observation at designated location upon arrival.
- Residents who have been to Taiwan and foreign countries in the past 14 days are required to hold a certificate of negative result or a document of specimen collection for nucleic acid test issued within the past seven (7) days by a qualified institution recognized by the health authorities for boarding and entering Macau; and are subject to 14-day medical observation at designated location upon arrival.

4. All arrivals should acquire a "Yuekang Code" and use the built in mini program to submit required information including the nucleic acid report to transcode it into "Macau Health Code" upon approval by Macau officials.

Remarks: The above information is for reference only. Official information by respective authorities shall prevail.